Room 414 was great for the six of us, aged 7 to 70. Everything was clean and good working order. Our only problem was with a broken toaster. It was replaced in minutes. The pool and hot tub were both clean and not crowded. The beach was clean. We rented a cabana for the week that was our headquarters while playing in the Gulf. Plenty to do in the area. We made trips to Clearwater for the aquarium and a boat ride. We fished out of St. Pete and prepared our catch in the condo!

Ram Sea Complex...it is nicely maintained by the staff. They are constantly sweeping the sand off walkways and cleaning the pool, etc. There are MANY safety rules posted...in the elevator, by the pool, on the beach, etc. But there is NO one enforcing ANYTHING! People pay NO attention to them. So why have them? I counted 15 rafts in the pool at 1 time...and it clearly says " NO rafts in pool". There were loud teens screaming in the pool several nights after 11pm. I would suggest you place a smoker container near the pool. It was gross that people were stomping out their butts on the pavement around the pool for kids to step on...really?? NO smoking around the pool would be a better option. But again, there is NO enforcement. We observed people driving in, taking a parking space, going to the beach, then using the condo pool! NO way to keep people out. Most places have a swipe card or code to get in the pool, etc. Ram Sea seems to be a free-for-all! Very frustrating as a paying guest who was trying to follow the rules and enjoy the pool. Instead, we got to share it with large family groups who didn't appear to be staying there! Would have appreciated tighter restrictions. The other HUGE frustration is the beach chair rental business that took up at least 2/3 of the beach space in front of Ram Sea 2! The other 1/3 space is set up for beach volleyball with a big net. That was very annoying as it caused everybody staying in the condos to crowd together on a very small beach space. Then guests brought the big canopy tents and started putting those up at 6:30am every morning (another broken beach rule) to claim their space! That left us peons with only chairs and an umbrella to have to walk quite a distance from the condo to find a place to settle. This was unacceptable as a paying guest to not have available beach space in front of our building. Despite the above annoyances, this is a very nice complex and very family-oriented. We would consider returning to Ram Sea, but would certainly choose a different condo.

Condo #414 is a very nice condo. It is spacious and with 7 of us, we never felt crowded. Lots of storage space and the bedrooms were a nice size. We enjoyed the fully-stocked updated kitchen, especially the ice maker on the frig. The flat screen TV's in each room was a big plus for our techno-loving family! The huge balcony was great and the outdoor furniture was really nice and used by all. The bathroom fixtures haven't been updated, but were fine. Thank you for the handrail in the master bath...it was much needed and appreciated! This condo had no beach umbrella...we had to go buy one. Fortunately, our kids drove to FL. and could take it home. The only negative to this particular condo is that ALL of the mattresses were really bad. All 4 of them had a weird "creak" that every time you turned over; the mattress creaked. None of us (3 generations) slept well because they were just uncomfortable! They seemed either old or cheap or both, the bottom sheet fell off the king mattress every night...the sheets had little elasticity to hold them on the corners... so we were fighting that as well. It was such a disappointment because this was a lovely condo otherwise.... but I can't recommend it with the beds the way they are right now. We have rented many condos over 35 years and I can't ever remember mattresses this uncomfortable. We had some minor housekeeping issues upon arrival...those have been reported and hopefully tended to. It didn't ruin our stay. Review to be continued....
